SPRING & SUMMER

WHEN a man reaches the age of fifty-five, you can safely judge his character. His value is a matter established by his works and recorded by his reputation.

The same is true of a business house. Since the birth of the house of Leopold Morse Co., in 1852, every season and year has marked an advance.

Here are shown our "Regent" ($10 to $35) and "Winston" ($15 to $35) Sack Suits for men. Of the two the Winston is a little more extreme in its lines. It has the marked shaping of the back with a decided "spring" or flare at the hips. Both are notable for their careful shoulder and collar modelling. These suits are made both in the approved smooth and "unfinished" worsteds in tasteful stripe and check effects as well as the ever-correct plain grays, browns, and blacks.

..... THE "REGENT" AND THE "WINSTON"

If you will judge us by the standard of works and reputation, our character for integrity and reliability—that is, our actual value—will be plain to you.

Recently a man whose name is well known among those competing in the Boston clothing trade said of Leopold Morse Co. that the most important factor of our success has been the astonishing merit of Morse-Made clothing.

Our Raincoat ($10 to $30) is a roomy, full-draped garment, 52 inches long, made of carefully chosen light-weight goods, treated to repel water. Either full or skeleton lined. An appropriate coat to wear over evening clothes as well as on ordinary occasions.

The "Lafayette" ($15 to $30) appears this season in up-to-date fancy Scotches, and also in special close-textured fabrics waterproofed. This smart, shapely design is a strong favorite.

In the "Stratford," the overgarment designed for young men, or men with young ideas ($12 to $30), we present a top-coat specialty made of tan or gray covert cloth in the length (35 inches) that makes it so popular.

INQUIRY among those who are our customers will amply confirm this estimate, and we feel that no effort on our part can be too great to maintain this reputation.

As our illustration suggests, our two frock coat models meet the requirements of formal daytime wear. The double-breasted "Prince Albert" is made in choice black unfinished worsteds and vicunas. Coat and waistcoat ($22 to 28) should be worn with odd trousers of striped worsted.

Our cutaway is a single-breasted coat and (with waistcoat) is made for formal wear in the same fabrics as the "Prince Albert." We also present this style in fancy worsted patterns, full suits, for semi-dress and business, $15 to $25.

Trousers. Our trousers department is most complete, and at $2.50 to $9 we offer a strong and broad assortment in many kinds of appropriate fabrics.

HOUSE-MADE clothing is of our own design and manufacture.

Careful scrutiny of our large and varied stock, as well as of the illustrations in this booklet, will acquaint you with the character of our goods. Thus you may judge us by our works.

In designing the Youths' "Rugby" and "Carlton" suits we have borne in mind that young men are nowadays as mindful of fashion as their elder brothers. We therefore present these special designs in which we have modified the prevailing adult fashions so that they are both correct and tasteful, resulting in a line that is emphatically "young men's" clothing. For these we have set aside a careful selection of special Scotch and worsted fabrics.

The "Rugby" model is double breasted, the "Carlton" single. Prices $10 to $25. The third figure in this group shows one of our popular boys' two-piece suits, with "bloomer" breeches. Prices $5 to $10. Sizes 9 to 16 years.

WHEN you consider Morse-Made clothing in the light of the price at which we sell it, you will be convinced that money expended for these goods takes on the maximum of purchasing power.

We have recently added an entire building adjoining us on Washington Street. Here are The fashionable endorsement of special clothing for special purposes has prompted us to produce the two-piece outing suit here pictured. The sack coat has the extra long lapels and two buttons. Trousers have the turn-up bottoms. Made in neat patterns of light-weight worsteds and flannels, either unlined or with skeleton linings. Our introduction of these novelty suits has proved a marked success. $10 to $20.

Many men find that the possession of an extra pair of outing trousers is desirable, so we have made up a large stock of separate outing trousers in light worsteds and flannels, with full hips, belt straps, and turned-up bottoms. $2.50 to $7.

OUR retail operations are distributed through three spacious floors, conveniently arranged and connected by swift elevators. With this added space and an equipment thoroughly modern

The increasing refinements of social intercourse make it more and more necessary for every man's wardrobe to include the formal evening clothes illustrated here. These need not involve burdensome expense, since we have prepared a series of exceedingly high grade suits to meet a demand for evening clothes at ready-to-wear prices. Full evening Dress Suits, $30 to $40. Tuxedo or Dinner Coat suits, $27 to $37. Made in black dress worsteds, silk faced or fully silk lined throughout. In details of style, as well as of craftsmanship, they are superb examples of conscientious effort to serve the most exacting public.
