PRELIMINARY NOTE.

The miscellaneous sale offered in the following pages is primarily the property of the late Charles D. Weldon, N.A., long a good friend of the Walpole Galleries; he was sent in the “Nineties” by Harper’s Publishing Co., to accompany Lafcadio Hearn on his first trip to Japan. Like many of the French and English artists, including Whistler, Mr. Weldon was greatly influenced by the beauty he found in Japan; he had studied in Paris with Munkacsy and his work as a member of the National Academy throughout his career showed great feeling and love for the Japanese treatment (see his paintings Nos. 234 and 236.) He also brought back from Japan some most interesting pieces: the outfit for cutting Woodblocks for the Japanese Prints (No. 106); their original “abacus” or counting board (No. 169); the mss and letters (Nos. 113-119), the original letter of Hokusai himself, “the Old Man mad about painting,” in which he quotes a price for a screen less than $1.50! Also the original Edition of “100 Views of Fuji” (No. 42).

Mr. Weldon’s Japanese prints are pleasing, but not so important as the drawings and paintings of Utamaro, Sukenobu, Kuniyoshi, Hokusai, and a fine primitive attributed to Masanobu. Kuniyoshi’s “Pink Horse” is a notable item in any group (No. 53), as is the Utamaro triptych (No. 64). The books on prints are in the Division Nos. 14-90. Among the items in the sale deserving attention is a group which has come down from a Colonial Family in Virginia; the samplers, the fine Spode supper service, a manuscript Cookbook, etc. There are other desirable items, such as the lacquer Inro; Satsuma; carvings; a fine pair of ancient Chinese bronze urns; a “Parrot feeder,” Chinese, set with jade; a set of Pearl Studs; a silver-gilt travelling clock, another clock mounted with inlaid tortoiseshell, a Battersea enamel box, snuff-bottles, sword-guards, lamps, and screens.

The textiles will be found to include a pair of Jacquard cut velvet panels; a Chinese embroidered white shawl; a superb Peacock embroidered panel, a Tsuzuri weave panel of Birds and Wistaria, etc.

A long Mirror in old gilt frame, a violin, guitar, swords, Mr. Weldon’s easel; a pair of very handsome Chinese teakwood and pearl armchairs; a suit of armour, a four-panel (narrow) embossed screen, a painting or two by John W. Alexander given by him to Mr. Weldon, a Persian miniature, a few stencils, all combine into an interesting sale.

MRS. EDWARD TURNBULL.
